Viet Briefing Slated For Congress Chiefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson plans to meet with congressional leaders today or Wednesday before deciding whether to throw more force into the Viet Nam war.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said both Democratic and Republican leaders would be called to the White House. The session with the Democratic leaders apparently would be in addition to today's regular weekly breakfast meeting.

Since last Wednesday, the President has been holding lengthy conferences with top aides — discussions that point toward an increased American commitment of manpower and equipment.

Officials have indicated the final decisions could involve the mustering of some reserves and National Guard units and an increase in draft calls.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara returned last Wednesday from a survey of the situation in Viet Nam and told newsmen the ratio of Communist Viet Cong guerrillas to government forces was "totally unacceptable."

About 75,000 American military men are now in South Viet Nam, and there has been talk of increasing this to 179,000.

Monday the President and his advisers met for three hours. Moyers said reports from Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and Gen. William C. Westmoreland were studied. Westmoreland is commander of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam.

Moyers said Johnson asked his advisers for more information to supplement reports he received over the weekend. Some of them deal with manpower and equipment needs.

Moyers also reported that the President and his advisers discussed the downing of an American jet bomber over North Viet Nam Sunday. Officials said a surface-to-air missile may have hit the plane.

Asked about any steps to advise the state governors — now holding their annual conference in Minneapolis — about Viet Nam decisions, Moyers said, "I'm sure the President will want to keep the governors informed on any decisions."

At the governor's meeting, there were these developments Monday relating to the Viet Nam situation:

—The chairman of the Democratic Governors' Conference,

Gov. John Connally of Texas, said, "We wholeheartedly and unanimously support the President's actions in the Dominican Republic and Viet Nam."

—The chairman of the Republican Governors' Conference, Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho, said, "We think that before we are called upon to vote on any resolution we are entitled to a greater degree of frankness about the Viet Nam situation than we have been getting from the State Department and the President."

—Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said it is up to the President to decide how much can be said.

—Another Republican, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, said, "I think we have made some bad mistakes in the last few years in Viet Nam. I'm not saying we're not doing what we should be doing. I'm reserving judgment. I just don't know."

8-1 Manpower Advantage Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon thinking now tends toward the view that an 8 to 1 edge rather than the often-quoted 10 to 1 ratio, is a more realistic goal for a manpower advantage needed to deal with Communist insurgents in South Viet Nam.

Even an 8 to 1 ratio would indicate a far greater input of U.S. troops than seems in prospect. The indicated buildup need under this formula would come to perhaps 650,000 more men. If a 10 to 1 ratio were applied, it would point to a requirement for about 900,000 more troops in South Viet Nam.

American troops there now or due soon total about 83,000 and indications are that about 100,000 will be added by the end of this year. Both figures are far short of filling the 8 to 1 ratio.

Calculations for troop strength needed to handle the guerrillas have been lowered because of the rising number of Communist troops, coupled with their bigger fighting units.

The basis for this seeming paradox is the theory that the more the Viet Cong insurgents get away from hit and run tactics and the more men they field, the easier it becomes to hit them.

The 650,000-man increase on the 8-to-1 ratio is based on the current estimate that about 165,000 Communist troops are opposing about 500,000 Vietnamese troops, plus the 83,000 Americans there or expected shortly and several thousand Koreans, Australians and New Zealanders.

It also takes into account a 10,000-man increase in South Viet Nam's forces. Overall, that would bring the anti-Communist military forces in Viet Nam close to 700,000.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said last week the current ratio of about 4 to 1 is unacceptable. He did not specify an acceptable ratio and has avoided any figure of that sort.

Officials say increased mobility furnished by U.S. helicopter units and added firepower supplied by U.S. jets could be credited with enough impact to hike the 4 to 1 troop ratio to the equivalent of perhaps 6 to 1.

This would still leave a deficiency of about 300,000 men.

U.S. air strikes continued against suspected Viet Cong installations in South Viet Nam. An estimated 240 guerrillas were reported killed Monday and today, but the figure was not confirmed by body count.

The spokesman reported three strikes by U.S. planes early today against North Viet Nam.

In the heaviest raid, 12 U.S. Navy A4 Skyhawks bombed the Thanh Hoa power plant, 73 miles south of Hanoi, he said. The pilots reported all bombs were on target but said heavy smoke prevented assessment of damage.

The Viet Cong has virtually knocked out South Viet Nam's land transport system, forcing U.S. and Vietnamese authorities to institute an emergency airlift to major cities in the central highlands.

Most inland cities are in a state of economic siege. Government forces laboriously open blocked roads by day; the Viet Cong cuts them again at night.

Governors' Conference Studies Domestic Issues

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The nation's governors, still skirmishing over President Johnson's Viet Nam policies, get down to domestic issues today in the first business sessions of their 57th conference.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, filling in for Johnson, will outline the President's course in Southeast Asia. He gives his White House-approved speech at the annual state dinner tonight. The word was that he will have no specifics on Johnson's immediate intentions.

Some political maneuvering was promised in a Republican effort to reinstall, in effect, a resolutions committee. It was abolished two years ago in an effort to prevent advertising a Democratic split over civil rights.

GOP Gov. Tim Babcock of Montana said he intends to propose that the executive committee take over the job of passing on resolutions. Only those approved by a three-fourths vote of the committee would be put before the conference.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho, chairman of the Republican Governors Association, said in a separate interview he knows of no GOP resolution on civil rights. But the feeling was general that if the resolutions power is restored, there would be one.

Such far-apart Democrats as Gov. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana and Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey told separate news conferences Monday there is no need for the governors to go on record on an issue on which the courts and Congress have passed.

Their reluctance to accent party differences on civil rights appeared to have foreclosed any Democratic effort to put the conference on record for support of Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

Chairman John Connally of Texas, head of the Democratic caucus, said a statement of unanimous party support for Johnson's policies would be drafted. He said he hoped Republicans also would sign it.

But the GOP governors were raising the issue that Johnson has not been frank about the situation. Only Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York came out with what might be called a full endorsement of the President's position.

In control of conference action by their 33-17 majority over the Republicans, Democrats picked GOP Gov. John H. Reed of Maine from a list submitted by the Republicans to be the next chairman of the conference.

Reed would succeed Democratic Gov. Grant Sawyer of Nevada. The position is alternated yearly between the two parties.

Mariner 4 Makes Use Of 'Mylar'

Guidance vanes of the Mariner 4 spacecraft are made of "Mylar" polyester film, a product of Du Pont Co. plants at Circleville and Florence, S. C., according to the firm's headquarters in Wilmington, Del.

The vanes help keep the craft's solar panels pointed at the sun, according to reports. The panels convert the sun's light into electricity, providing power for the Mariner's complex electronic equipment.

The "Mylar" used for the vanes is metallized on one side and black on the other. There is a vane at the end of each solar panel.

"Mylar" is used in many ways as a component of spacecraft — a d rocket equipment. Its most spectacular use has been as the construction material for the Echo satellites.

Small County Apportioning Puzzle Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A special committee studying the effect of legislative reapportionment on small population counties met behind closed doors today.

Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood, chairman of the House Elections and Federal Relations Committee, presided at the smaller group's first session and barred newsmen.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, named as members of the group with Kurfess these representatives: Walter L. White, R-Allen; Fred K. Cassel, R-Wyandot; Ralph D. Cole Jr., R-Hancock; Wray Bevens, D-Pike; William T. Allmon, D-Carroll; and Vernal G. Riffe, D-Scioto.

Cloud asked the group to seek a solution to the "most difficult" problem of small counties which must be combined into districts with sufficient population for a single representative under reapportionment. Each county now has a representative regardless of population.

"We hope to be able to finish something to be voted on before the week is over," Cloud told the House in naming the group.

Board Will Act On Request for Berger Tax Levy

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners is scheduled to act Thursday on a request to place a half-mill levy on the Nov. general election ballot that would supplement the general fund at Berger Hospital.

The request for financial support was submitted during yesterday's County Commission meeting. It was indicated today the solons will approve the levy and take necessary steps Thursday to place it on the ballot for the public's vote decision.

The decision to ask for public assistance was made by Berger's Board of Governors-Commissioners following a long study on ways and means of improving the hospital's financial picture.

It was pointed out that Berger has been operating at a deficit, due mainly to a low percentage of occupancy. The Board of Governors have also made it clear that the hospital may be forced to curtail some of its services unless this financial outlook is improved.

ACCORDING to initial studies, the half-mill levy would produce in the neighborhood of $60 to $70,000 yearly for the general fund, an amount considered sufficient to keep the hospital operating in the black.

The measure, if approved by the voters, would extend for a period of five years.

Berger is classified as a general hospital as provided by the Ohio Revised Code and is operated as a city-county institution. However, it is not supported by city or county tax money.

The Governors explained that the hospital has been required to operate on its own initiative in the past due to the absence of public assistance. They added that Berger's patient occupancy must remain high if the hospital hopes to meet expenses and function properly in providing multiple services.

The request was submitted to the Commission which serves as the county's taxing authority. Presenting the proposal were Berger Board members Emmitt Crist, Russell Palm and Howard Koch.

In other business, the solons authorized the Pickaway County Welfare Department to submit necessary forms to the Welfare Department concerning the county's current efforts to purchase additional property to house welfare and other offices.

The Commission has been considering purchase of the Heine property on E. Mound St. as an office site. Present plans call for the County Welfare offices to be located there.

Little Optimism Is Felt at Geneva Disarmament Talks

GENEVA (AP) — The 17-nation disarmament conference prepared to resume today with no sign of optimism from either the Western powers or the Soviet Union.

The talks had long been deadlocked when they recessed last Sept. 17. Recent statements from East and West indicated that the deadlock may be as rigid as ever, despite a new British plan to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

In contrast to previous resumptions of the talks, delegates of the major powers carefully avoided any hopeful predictions in their arrival statements.

Of the five nations who now possess nuclear weapons, two were absent. France is boycotting the talks, and Red China has never been invited.

2 New Units Are Spotted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A flight of 46 Air Force fighter-bombers today knocked out one antiaircraft missile site and damaged another in North Viet Nam.

Three F105 fighter-bombers were shot down, the Pentagon reported, by what was described as "intense conventional ground-fire" during the low-level attack on two previously undiscovered surface-to-air missile sites about 40 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The two sites, using semimobile equipment which could be put in place in as little as 24 hours, are in addition to five sites previously identified as under construction around Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital.

The U.S. attack was launched three days after a U.S. plane was shot down by fire from one of the missile sites.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester told a news conference that U.S. pilots reported destruction of one of the new sites and damage to the other.

Photographic evaluation of the strike results has not been completed, Sylvester said.

"There were no reports of missiles fired at the attacking planes or of hostile air action," the announcement said.

The strike aircraft were protected by an unspecified number of fighter planes which flew overhead on guard against MID fighters which apparently did not challenge the attack.

Officials said "conventional (Continued on Page Two)

Celebrezze Quits Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today that Anthony J. Celebrezze is resigning as secretary of welfare to take a federal judgeship.

John W. Gardner, a Republican and president of the Carnegie Corp., will be named to the Cabinet post.

Johnson announced his fourth Cabinet appointment at a special ceremony in the flower garden outside his office. Celebrezze and Gardner, who was chairman of a special presidential task force on education last year, stood by.

Celebrezze, an Italian immigrant who was a longtime mayor of Cleveland, is being nominated for a vacancy on the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which has headquarters in Cincinnati.

In announcing this, Johnson said: "I have both a feeling of pride in Celebrezze's accession to this high court — and a reluctance in seeing him depart the department he has guided so skillfully."

Speaking of Gardner, Johnson said: "He is regarded by his peers as one of the most knowledgeable men in the field of U.S. education."

Gardner, besides heading the task force that helped prepare Johnson's 1965 legislative proposals in the field of education, was described by the President as having inspired last week's White House Conference on Education.

Gardner, who was born in Los Angeles in 1912, has been president of the Carnegie Corp. for the past 10 years. He also heads the Carnegie Endowment for the Advancement of Teaching.

The Carnegie Corp. is a foundation that administers the philanthropies initiated by steel baron Andrew Carnegie.

Johnson took passing note of Gardner's Republican Alliances in talking about him before a small audience of reporters in the rose garden. He said: "He's a PH.D., an ex-Marine, a former intelligence officer, an author and a Republican, though not necessarily in this order of importance or proportion of significance."

It's Day of the Whale in Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — This is the big day in Seattle: the day of the whale.

Namu, the 22-foot killer whale captured in British Columbia, swam into Seattle waters late Monday after a 400-mile voyage in a makeshift pen towed by the tug Iver Foss.

Namu and company stayed at the harbor mouth overnight, waiting for a welcoming ceremony set for 10 a.m. Pacific

Daylight Time at the pier where the four-ton mammal will become an aquarium attraction.

Lt. Gov. John Cherberg and acting Mayor Clarence Massart headed the welcoming committee. On the program were a Dixieland band, a drum and bugle corps and songstress Denise Darcel, who is appearing at a local night club.

Crowds of ordinary whale fanatics were also expected. Three teen-aged girls spent the night in sleeping bags on a life raft just off the pier.

Namu attracted such crowds of pleasure seekers he swam up Puget Sound that the Coast Guard assigned a patrol boat to keep them under control. Two ferries listed slightly as passengers rushed to one side for a look.

Dr. Dixy Lee Ray, director of the Pacific Science Center here, announced that the Office of Naval Research has offered to assist aquarium owner Ted Griffin in building a proper pen for Namu. The agency plans to do behavior and sound studies of the whale.

Dr. Ray spoke after Dr. Murray Newman, curator of the Vancouver, B.C., aquarium, warned that Namu's present 40-by-60-foot pen is too small and too shallow — probably one reason he got a sunburned fin on his trip south.

Clash Reported Near Cambodia

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A unit of South Vietnamese irregulars clashed with 150 Communist guerrillas near the Cambodian border today, a U.S. spokesman reported. He said government casualties were "very light."

Mariner 4 Makes Use Of 'Mylar'

Guidance vanes of the Mariner 4 spacecraft are made of "Mylar" polyester film, a product of Du Pont Co. plants at Circleville and Florence, S. C., according to the firm's headquarters in Wilmington, Dela.

The vanes help keep the craft's solar panels pointed at the sun, according to reports. The panels convert the sun's light into electricity, providing power for the Mariner's complex electronic equipment.

The "Mylar" used for the vanes is metallized on one side and black on the other. There is a vane at the end of each solar panel.

"Mylar" is used in many ways as a component of spacecraft a d rocket equipment. Its most spectacular use has been as the construction material for the Echo satellites.

Small County Apportioning Puzzle Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A special committee studying the effect of legislative reapportionment on small population counties met behind closed doors today.

Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood, chairman of the House Elections and Federal Relations Committee, presided at the smaller group's first session and barred newsmen.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, named as members of the group with Kurfess these representatives: Walter L. White, R-Allen; Fred K. Cassel, R-Wyandot; Ralph D. Cole Jr., R-Hancock; Wray Bevins, D-Pike; William T. Allmon, D-Carroll; and Vernal G. Riffe, D-Scioto.

Cloud asked the group to seek a solution to the "most difficult" problem of small counties which must be combined into districts with sufficient population for a single representative under reapportionment. Each county now has a representative regardless of population.

"We hope to be able to finish something to be voted on before the week is over," Cloud told the House in naming the group.

Board Will Act On Request for Berger Tax Levy

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners is scheduled to act Thursday on a request to place a half-mill levy on the Nov. general election ballot that would supplement the general fund at Berger Hospital.

The request for financial support was submitted during yesterday's County Commission meeting. It was indicated today the solons will approve the levy and take necessary steps Thursday to place it on the ballot for the public's vote decision.

The decision to ask for public assistance was made by Berger's Board of Governors-Commissioners following a long study on ways and means of improving the hospital's financial picture.

It was pointed out that Berger has been operating at a deficit, due mainly to a low percentage of occupancy. The Board of Governors have also made it clear that the hospital may be forced to cur some of its services unless this financial outlook is improved.

ACCORDING to initial studies, the half-mill levy would produce in the neighborhood of $60 to $70,000 yearly for the general fund, an amount considered sufficient to keep the hospital operating in the black. The measure, if approved by the voters, would extend for a period of five years.

Berger is classified as a general hospital as provided by the Ohio Revised Code and is operated as a city-county institution. However, it is not supported by city or county tax money.

The Governors explained that the hospital has been required to operate on its own initiative in the past due to the absence of public assistance. They added that Berger's patient occupancy must remain high if the hospital hopes to meet expenses and function properly in providing multiple services.

The request was submitted to the Commission which serves as the county's taxing authority. Presenting the proposal were Berger Board members Emmitt Crist, Russell Palm and Howard Koch.

In other business, the solons authorized the Pickaway County Welfare Department to submit necessary forms to the Welfare Department concerning the county's current efforts to purchase additional property to house welfare and other offices.

The Commission has been considering purchase of the Heine property on E. Mound St. as an office site. Present plans call for the County Welfare offices to be located there.

SOLON Charles Morris indicated that if the local plan is approved by the state, there is a chance proportionate match.

Little Optimism Is Felt at Geneva Disarmament Talks

GENEVA (AP) — The 17-nation disarmament conference prepared to resume today with no sign of optimism from either the Western powers or the Soviet Union.

The talks had long been deadlocked when they recessed last Sept. 17. Recent statements from East and West indicated that the deadlock may be as rigid as ever, despite a new British plan to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

In contrast to previous resumptions of the talks, delegates of the major powers carefully avoided any hopeful predictions in their arrival statements.

Of the five nations who now possess nuclear weapons, two were absent. France is boycotting the talks, and Red China has never been invited.

ing money would be made available. Morris and Wayne Hines voted in favor of submitting the welfare plans. Commission chairman Lloyd Melvin voiced a negative vote.

The county lawmakers also approved a revised estimate by the County Engineer calling for improvements on the bridge that crosses the Scioto River on the Florence Chapel Road. An initial bid on the job exceeded the county's estimate.

Bids on the bridge job will be accepted until noon Aug. 12 by the Commission. The project calls for sandblasting and complete prime and field coats of paint.

The purchase of a public address system for the County Common Pleas Courtroom was approved.

Celebrezze Quits Cabinet

Republican Named To Take His Place

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today that Anthony J. Celebrezze is resigning as secretary of welfare to take a federal judgeship. John W. Gardner, a Republican and president of the Carnegie Corp., will be named to the Cabinet post.

Johnson announced his fourth Cabinet appointment at a special ceremony in the flower garden outside his office. Celebrezze and Gardner, who was chairman of a special presidential task force on education last year, stood by.

Celebrezze, an Italian immigrant who was a longtime mayor of Cleveland, is being nominated for a vacancy on the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which has headquarters in Cincinnati.

In announcing this, Johnson said: "I have both a feeling of pride in Celebrezze's accession to this high court — and a reluctance in seeing him depart the department he has guided so skillfully."

Speaking of Gardner, Johnson said: "He is regarded by his peers as one of the most knowledgeable men in the field of U.S. education."

Gardner, besides heading the task force that helped prepare Johnson's 1965 legislative proposals in the field of education, was described by the President as having inspired last week's White House Conference on Education.

Gardner, who was born in Los Angeles in 1912, has been president of the Carnegie Corp. for the past 10 years. He also heads the Carnegie Endowment for the Advancement of Teaching.

The Carnegie Corp. is a foundation that administers the philanthropies initiated by steel baron Andrew Carnegie.

Johnson took passing note of Gardner's Republican Alliances in talking about him before a small audience of reporters in the rose garden. He said:

"He's a P.H.D., an ex-Marine, a former intelligence officer, an author and a Republican, though not necessarily in this order of importance or proportion of significance."

3 U.S. Planes Lost in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A flight of 46 Air Force fighter-bombers today knocked out one antiaircraft missile site and damaged another in North Viet Nam.

Three F105 fighter-bombers were shot down, the Pentagon reported, by what was described as "intense conventional ground-fire" during the low-level attack on two previously undiscovered surface-to-air missile sites about 40 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The two sites, using semimobile equipment which could be put in place in as little as 24 hours, are in addition to five sites previously identified as under construction around Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital.

The U.S. attack was launched three days after a U.S. plane was shot down by fire from one of the missile sites.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester told a news conference that U.S. pilots reported destruction of one of the new sites and damage to the other.

Photographic evaluation of the strike results has not been completed, Sylvester said.

"There were no reports of missiles fired at the attacking planes or of hostile air action," the announcement said.

The strike aircraft were protected by an unspecified number of fighter planes which flew overhead on guard against MID fighters which apparently did not challenge the attack.

Rhodes Veto Said Awaiting School Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Finance Dir-ector Richard L. Krabach said today the Ohio Senate - approved version of the school foundation bill would be vetoed by Gov. James Rhodes.

The bill has gone back to the House for consideration of amendments.

Krabach made his statement following what he said was intensive scrutiny of the measure as amended by Sen. Oakley C. Collins.

Under the terms of the Senate version of the bill Krabach said, districts must either increase real estate taxes or reduce the number of teachers.

"Therefore, the bill as passed by the Ohio Senate is not acceptable," Krabach said, adding: "It is the responsibility of the administration to do everything in its power to keep our government fiscally sound. . . . The legislature must share in the responsibility."

He strongly suggested that "the tax-raising Collins amendment be rejected by the Ohio House of Representatives as it would have to be vetoed by the governor."

Heath Chosen As Tory Chief

LONDON (AP) — Edward Heath was chosen leader of the Conservative party today. His opposition folded after he won first ballot majority.

Heath headed Reginald Maudling, 150-133, with 15 votes for Enoch Powell in the balloting among 298 Tory members of the House of Commons.

The Maudling, former chancellor of the exchequer, withdrew. This left the field clear for Heath.

Heath, 49, has been the party spokesman for economic affairs.

It's Day of the Whale in Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — This is the big day in Seattle: the day of the whale.

Namu, the 22-foot killer whale captured in British Columbia, swam into Seattle waters late Monday after a 400-mile voyage in a makeshift pen towed by the tug Iver Foss.

Namu and company stayed at the harbor mouth overnight, waiting for a welcoming ceremony set for 10 a.m. Pacific

Daylight Time at the pier where the four-ton mammal will become an aquarium attraction.

Lt. Gov. John Cherberg and acting Mayor Clarence Massart headed the welcoming committee. On the program were a Dixieland band, a drum and bugle corps and songstress Denise Darcel, who is appearing at a local night club.

Crowds of ordinary whale fanciers were also expected. Three teen-aged girls spent the night in sleeping bags on a life raft just off the pier.

Namu attracted such crowds of pleaser cr "e he swam up Puget Sound that the Coast Guard assigned a patrol boat to keep them under control. Two ferries listed slightly as passengers rushed to one side for a look.

Dr. Dixy Lee Ray, director of the Pacific Science Center here, announced that the Office of Naval Research has offered to assist aquarium owner Ted Griffin in building a proper pen for Namu. The agency plans to do behavior and sound studies of the whale.

Dr. Ray spoke after Dr. Murray Newman, curator of the Vancouver, B.C., aquarium, warned that Namu's present 40-by-60-foot pen is too small and too shallow — probably one reason he got a sunburned fin on his trip south.

Castro Predicts Latin Revolts

SANTA CLARA, Cuba (AP)—Fidel Castro says Cuban-style revolutions are inevitable in Latin America, with or without Cuban support.

Any U.S. efforts to "crush Cuba," even if successful, will not stop the growth of revolutionary regimes like his among Latin-American countries, the Cuban prime minister told an estimated 250,000 persons Monday at a celebration of the 12th anniversary of his attack on an army barracks in Santiago, Cuba.

Castro called on other Latin-American countries to start revolutions like the one that swept him into power in 1959.

2 New Units

"ordnance" was used in the attack. They did not specify, but delayed action bombs were probably used, a practice customary in low level attacks.

Sylvester said the new sites were identified "by thorough analysis of all of the evidence, including photography, after a loss of an Air Force F4C on the night of July 24."

Until now, the Defense Department had stood on a statement that it was investigating the reports that the F4C had been downed by missile similar to those which the Russians employed in Cuba.

"Pilot reports had indicated that the plane may have been downed by a SAM (surface-to-air) missile," Sylvester said. "The aircraft was out of range of the original five sites which encircle Hanoi but was within range of what proved to be two new sites."

"It was concluded that the F4C was shot down by a SAM missile from one of the two new sites attacked today."

Thus, the announcement added, it was decided to destroy the two semi-mobile sites "which were protecting areas in which priority military targets lie."

These targets, Sylvester said, include ammunition and supply depots, barracks, lines of communication, "and other facilities which support the infiltration of men and material from North Viet Nam into South Viet Nam."

He said the five original anti-aircraft missile sites "are not operational so far as we know."

Several weeks ago, the State Department spoke of four sites and said they protected both Hanoi and Haiphong, North Viet Nam's main port about 55 miles east of the capital city.

The map and the announcement were the first public official disclosure that there were five original sites and that they were clustered around Hanoi, but not Haiphong.

The Pentagon said that pilots on the attack missions reported seeing two parachutes after the three U.S. planes were hit today by ground fire.

Sylvester said there was no report of the extent of casualties inflicted upon the North Vietnamese.

He said "we presume" that the missiles are North Vietnamese but that U.S. officials don't really know.

The missiles and their equipment are Soviet built. It has been presumed that, as in Cuba, Russian technicians and possibly Russian soldiers were active in installing and possibly are manning the weapons.

U.S. authorities have said privately that the possible presence of Russians would not deter the United States from attack on such sites, if it were deemed necessary.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has nominated Rep. Oren Harris to be a federal judge for the Eastern and Western District of Arkansas.

The Arkansas Democrat, 61, has been a member of the House since 1941. He is chairman of the House Commerce Committee.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington attorney Abe Fortas, a close friend of President Johnson, apparently isn't going to take any government job.

Fortas had been mentioned as a possible Supreme Court successor to United Nations Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, but White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers scotched that Monday.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A window washer trying to climb back inside a building because he couldn't get his safety belt hooked slipped and plunged eight floors to his death today.

Two policemen who witnessed the downtown accident said William K. Miller, 29, of Toledo whispered "help me" before he died.

Fellow workers told officers Miller had complained he couldn't get his safety belt properly hooked on the rings outside a window on the eighth story of LaSalle's Department Store. He started to crawl back inside, but got only his left hand through the window before his feet slipped.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed today legislation requiring a health hazard warning on cigarette packages.

The new law, which becomes effective next Jan. 1, requires a conspicuous warning on each package.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has acknowledged that it is picking up the tab for Ambassador W. Averell Harriman's "vacation tour" to Moscow and other European capitals.

A State Department spokesman said Monday that although the government is paying Harriman's expenses, the ambassador is paying for those incurred by his wife and a personal friend.

Officials said it had been expected that although traveling informally, Harriman would be able to have informal, but useful, contacts with various foreign leaders.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has called for an investigation into the factors surrounding cancellation of Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. to build a $50 million synthetic rubber plant for Romania.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Monday that "this government considers that Firestone's original intentions were in the national interest."

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has charged in a Senate speech that Firestone dropped its plans because of "unusual competitive pressures" and "a nuisance boycott campaign by an extremist political organization."

OK of Medicare Given by House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security-health care bill zipped through the House today and headed for the Senate, its last stop before the White House and signing into law by President Johnson.

"The people will rise up and bless you for the work we will complete today," Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader, told his colleagues prior to the roll-call vote.

The once highly controversial measure was approved by margins of 3 to 1 by both Senate and House earlier this year. This second run through is necessary because their bills varied and a conference committee had to work out a compromise measure.

A major breakthrough in American social welfare legislation, the bill attempts to lighten the burden of aging in three basic ways:

1. Assure virtually all Americans 65 or older of hospitalization and nursing home protection at low cost.

2. Provide all Americans 65 or over protection against most doctor bills, again at minimal cost.

3. Increase 7 per cent, retroactive to last Jan. 1, benefits under already existing old age, survivors and disability insurance programs.

On the assumption that President Johnson will sign the bill this week, the Social Security Administration is planning to send out checks in mid-September to more than 20 million beneficiaries to pay the retroactive 7 per cent increase. These checks will total about $885 million.

The first regular checks reflecting the 7 per cent increase will be those for September benefits, which the beneficiaries will receive during the first days of October.

The bill, once the target of cries of "socialized medicine," represents the broadest expansion of the Social Security system since its inception during President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

Along with the broadened new benefits will come an increase in Social Security taxes — for workers, bosses and the self-employed. The increase will continue to mount. As of next Jan. 1, the first $6,600 will be taxable instead of the current $4,800.

This year the most a worker has to pay for Social Security is $174. His boss has to pay the same amount for him. Under current law this maximum was to rise to $198 for 1966 and 1967 and to $223.20 in 1968.

If and when the bill becomes law, the worker earning at least $6,600 will pay $27.20 next year, and his employer the same. In 1967 and 1968 they each will pay $29.40 and by 1975 they will be paying $356.40 each.

This is to help support a program whose cost has been estimated at just under $6.5 billion a year.

The benefits provided older Americans under this bill are many. Here, in capsule, are some:

— 60 days of hospitalization at a cost of $40. Then, another 30 days for $10 a day.

— 100 days in a nursing home at a cost of $5 a day for each day above 20.

Castro Predicts Latin Revolts

SANTA CLARA, Cuba (AP)—Fidel Castro says Cuban-style revolutions are inevitable in Latin America, with or without Cuban support.

Any U.S. efforts to "crush Cuba," even if successful, will not stop the growth of revolutionary regimes like his among Latin-American countries, the Cuban prime minister told an estimated 250,000 persons Monday at a celebration of the 12th anniversary of his attack on an army barracks in Santiago, Cuba.

Castro called on other Latin-American countries to start revolutions like the one that swept him into power in 1959.

ordnance" was used in the attack. They did not specify, but delayed action bombs were probably used, a practice customary in low level attacks.

Sylvester said the new sites were identified "by thorough analysis of all of the evidence, including photography, after a loss of an Air Force F4C on the night of July 24."

Until now, the Defense Department had stood on a statement that it was investigating the reports that the F4C had been downed by missile similar to those which the Russians employed in Cuba.

"Pilot reports had indicated that the plane may have been downed by a SAM (surface-to-air) missile," Sylvester said.

"The aircraft was out of range of the original five sites which encircle Hanoi but was within range of what proved to be two new sites."

"It was concluded that the F4C was shot down by a SAM missile from one of the two new sites attacked today."

Thus, the announcement added, it was decided to destroy the two semi-mobile sites "which were protecting areas in which priority military targets lie."

These targets, Sylvester said, include ammunition and supply depots, barracks, lines of communication, "and other facilities which support the infiltration of men and material from North Viet Nam into South Viet Nam."

He said the five original anti-aircraft missile sites "are not operational so far as we know."

Several weeks ago, the State Department spoke of four sites and said they protected both Hanoi and Haiphong, North Viet Nam's main port about 55 miles east of the capital city.

The map and the announcement were the first public official disclosure that there were five original sites and that they were clustered around Hanoi, but not Haiphong.

The Pentagon said that pilots on the attack missions reported seeing two parachutes after the three U.S. planes were hit today by ground fire.

Sylvester said there was no report of the extent of casualties inflicted upon the North Vietnamese.

He said "we presume" that the missiles are North Vietnamese but that U.S. officials don't really know.

The missiles and their equipment are Soviet built. It has been presumed that, as in Cuba, Russian technicians and possibly Russian soldiers were active in installing and possibly are manning the weapons.

U.S. authorities have said privately that the possible presence of Russians would not deter the United States from attack on such sites, if it were deemed necessary.

News Briefs

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A 21-year - old Dayton man was charged with first-degree murder Monday in the slaying of another man in a tavern Saturday.

Police said the man charged, Jack Johnson, and the victim, 29-year-old Robert C. Drivings, had argued for several hours before the shooting.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has nominated Rep. Oren Harris to be a federal judge for the Eastern and Western District of Arkansas.

The Arkansas Democrat, 61, has been a member of the House since 1941. He is chairman of the House Commerce Committee.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington attorney Abe Fortas, a close friend of President Johnson, apparently isn't going to take any government job.

Fortas had been mentioned as a possible Supreme Court successor to United Nations Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, but White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers scotched that Monday.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A window "washer trying to climb back inside a building because he couldn't get his safety belt hooked slipped and plunged eight floors to his death today.

Two policemen who witnessed the downtown accident said William K. Miller, 29, of Toledo whispered "help me" before he died.

Fellow workers told officers Miller had complained he couldn't get his safety belt properly hooked on the rings outside a window on the eighth story of LaSalle's Department Store. He started to crawl back inside, but got only his left hand through the window before his feet slipped.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed today legislation requiring a health hazard warning on cigarette packages.

The new law, which becomes effective next Jan. 1, requires a conspicuous warning on each package.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has acknowledged that it is picking up the tab for Ambassador W. Averell Harriman's "vacation tour" to Moscow and other European capitals.

A State Department spokesman said Monday that although the government is paying Harriman's expenses, the ambassador is paying for those incurred by his wife and a personal friend.

Officials said it had been expected that although traveling informally, Harriman would be able to have informal, but useful, contacts with various foreign leaders.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has called for an investigation into the factors surrounding cancellation of Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. to build a $50 million synthetic rubber plant for Romania.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Monday that "this government considers that Firestone's original intentions were in the national interest."

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has charged in a Senate speech that Firestone dropped its plans because of "unusual competitive pressures" and "a nuisance boycott campaign by an extremist political organization."

OK of Medicare Given by House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security-health care bill zipped through the House today and headed for the Senate, its last stop before the White House and signing into law by President Johnson.

"The people will rise up and bless you for the work we will complete today," Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader, told his colleagues prior to the roll-call vote.

The once highly controversial measure was approved by margins of 3 to 1 by both Senate and House earlier this year. This second run through is necessary because their bills varied and a conference committee had to work out a compromise measure.

A major breakthrough in American social welfare legislation, the bill attempts to lighten the burden of aging in three basic ways:

1. Assure virtually all Americans 65 or older of hospitalization and nursing home protection at low cost.

2. Provide all Americans 65 or over protection against most doctor bills, again at minimal cost.

3. Increase 7 per cent, retroactive to last Jan. 1, benefits under already existing old age, survivors and disability insurance programs.

On the assumption that President Johnson will sign the bill this week, the Social Security Administration is planning to send out checks in mid-September to more than 20 million beneficiaries to pay the retroactive 7 per cent increase. These checks will total about $885 million.

The first regular checks reflecting the 7 per cent increase will be those for September benefits, which the beneficiaries will receive during the first days of October.

The bill, once the target of cries of "socialized medicine," represents the broadest expansion of the Social Security System since its inception during President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

Along with the broadened and new benefits will come an increase in Social Security taxes — for workers, bosses and the self-employed. The increase will continue to mount. As of next Jan. 1, the first $6,000 will be taxable instead of the current $4,800.

This year the most a worker has to pay for Social Security is $174. His boss has to pay the same amount for him. Under current law this maximum was to rise to $198 for 1966 and 1967 and to $223.20 in 1968.

If and when the bill becomes law, the worker earning at least $6,000 will pay $27.20 next year, and his employer the same. In 1967 and 1968 they each will pay $290.40 and by 1975 they will be paying $356.40 each.

This is to help support a program whose cost has been estimated at just under $6.5 billion a year.

The benefits provided older Americans under this bill are many. Here, in capsule, are some:

— 60 days of hospitalization at a cost of $40. Then, another 30 days for $10 a day.

— 100 days in a nursing home at a cost of $5 a day for each day above 20.

— 100 visits at home from nurses or technicians.

— 20 days of outpatient hospital diagnostic service for $20 and 20 per cent of the cost above $20.

— For payment of $3 a month, inclusion in a federally matched and supervised insurance system that will provide coverage for 80 per cent of most doctor's bills in a year, the patient paying the first $50.

PRIEST KILLED—Dorothy M. Bessie, 55, is led away from the Chancery office of the Los Angeles Archdiocese after the fatal point-blank shooting of Rev. John B. Thom (shown). Police arrived to find her sitting calmly beside a table on which a derringer lay.

600 Young Dominicans Attend Military School

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Six hundred young rebels are learning "urban warfare" at a makeshift military school here.

With obvious enthusiasm the recruits — many of them teenagers — do calisthenics, learn to use weapons and practice on obstacles which simulate street fighting conditions.

They go to school from 5:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. seven days a week.

One instructor explained to a visitor that 10 young men inched through mud on their bellies were "learning to attack a police station." They carried wooden sticks for guns.

A military expert from the United Nations mission who toured the school said it provided "simple, useful training."

It opened two weeks ago in Eugenio Maria de Hostos Park, next to the sea. Anyone living in the rebel downtown zone is eligible to enroll in the one-month course, including members of the 5,000-man rebel army. Many in this army are untrained civilians who received weapons for the first time in the general distribution at the outset of the rebellion in April.

The director and the majority of the instructors are members of the leftist June 14th party. Nevertheless, the school is endorsed by Col. Francisco Caamaño Domo, the rebel president, and moderate factions in the rebel movement.

Caamaño said he designed the obstacle course. The school was established "to provide physical fitness and to keep young men occupied and out of trouble," he declared.

Two top directors, who identified themselves as June 14th members but withheld their names, stated another purpose. They said the school was trying to create "guerrillas who would keep the struggle going in the city even after a political settlement, if necessary."

"It is only natural," one said, "that the June 14th movement, the group most deeply involved in the struggle, should teach people how to carry it on."

The training course includes frequent lectures on such subjects as Dominican class structure, behavior — crime has been a problem recently in the corner of the city run by the rebels — and the reasons for the rebellion. The explanation is given that the landing of U.S. troops blocked the rebellion and prevented "the people from achieving their democratic goals."

Many Parts of World Hurt by Drought

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Severe drought conditions have left withered fields, emaciated cattle, dry streams and bleak prospects for crops in many parts of the world.

The drought has hit parts of Australia, Korea, India, Italy, Portugal, Kenya, Panama and other areas.

Parts of Australia are undergoing one of the worst droughts on record. The outlook is grim in many of the nation's richest agricultural areas.

Heavy rains the past few days broke the drought in the coastal areas of eastern Australia, but vast sheep and cattle ranches to the west still are dry.

The federal minister for primary production, C. F. Adermann, said "undoubtedly the drought will have adverse effects on our wheat and other cereal production in the coming season. Wool, meat and milk production also will be affected."

Here is a brief summary of drought conditions in other areas:

PORTUGAL

Poor harvests are predicted in most regions. In the southern region, drought and wide tracts of abandoned farmlands have brought a plague of locusts, which damaged tomato and sunflower crops. Corn and potato crops both dropped this year, although wheat is not in bad shape, according to the National Institute of Statistics. Grapes have not been affected.

INDIA

Eastern India suffered under the worst dry spell in a decade this spring, but Food Ministry officials in New Delhi said that viewed from a nationwide basis, there appeared to be no fear of serious economic dislocation.

Officials in Calcutta estimated at least one million acres of jute, India's big money-making export, were damaged. Another 300,000 acres of the crop were not planted this year.

Exact damage to crops and to India's food position cannot be evaluated for several months until the impact of the belated monsoon rains is studied. Even a slight drop in yields is harmful because the nation already eats more than it grows.

PANAMA

A 30-50 per cent drop in average rainfall in central Panama has affected the country's richest farming zone and prime cattle area.

Cattle herds find little food on the parched, cracking pastures. Unless rain comes soon, rice fields will be a total loss. The Panama Canal restricts the drift of shipping due to low lake levels.

KENYA

Two years ago Kenya was a corn exporter. Today corn crops stand shriveled in the fields and the nation is importing tons of U.S. corn to feed its people. The drought is the worst since 1961 when vast cattle herds were decimated and many people died.

ITALY

Drought in northern Italy this spring was the worst since 1938. The thaw was slower than usual and in addition there was no rain all May. Rice industry spokesmen estimate a crop yield about 5 per cent below normal. The corn crop also is expected to be affected.

SOUTH AFRICA

Vast areas of the cane belt have suffered an unprecedented summer drought and many rivers have stopped flowing, preventing irrigation of sugar cane fields. The shortage of water may cut the cane crop from an expected 1.5 million tons to 1.1 million, official estimates said. The wool clip is down.

SOUTH KOREA

The worst drought in 60 years this spring was broken this month when the rainy season finally set in. Crop prospects, which had been forecast to drop 30 per cent this fall, were revised upward and agriculture experts now predict an average rice crop.

ARGENTINA

Inadequate rains in the provinces of Cordoba and Santa Fe will affect corn yields. Some late-planted areas have been abandoned for use as forage.

600 Young Dominicans Attend Military School

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Six hundred young rebels are learning "urban warfare" at a make shift military school here.

With obvious enthusiasm the recruits — many of them teenagers — do calisthenics, learn to use weapons and practice on obstacles which simulate street fighting conditions.

They go to school from 5:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. seven days a week.

One instructor explained to a visitor that 10 young men inched through mud on their bellies were "learning to attack a police station." They carried wooden sticks for guns.

A military expert from the United Nations mission who toured the school said it provided "simple, useful training."

It opened two weeks ago in Eugenio Maria de Hostos Park, next to the sea. Anyone living in the rebel downtown zone is eligible to enroll in the one-month course, including members of the 5,000-man rebel army. Many in this army are untrained civilians who received weapons for the first time in the general distribution at the outset of the rebellion in April.

The director and the majority of the instructors are members of the leftist June 14th party. Nevertheless, the school is endorsed by Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, the rebel president, and moderate factions in the rebel movement.

Caamano said he designed the obstacle course. The school was established "to provide physical fitness and to keep young men occupied and out of trouble," he declared.

Two top directors, who identified themselves as June 14th members but withheld their names, stated another purpose. They said the school was trying to create "guerrillas who would keep the struggle going in the city even after a political settlement, if necessary."

"It is only natural," one said, "that the June 14th movement, the group most deeply involved in the struggle, should teach people how to carry it on."

The training course includes frequent lectures on such subjects as Dominican class structure, behavior — crime has been a problem recently in the corner of the city run by the rebels — and the reasons for the rebellion. The explanation is given that the landing of U.S. troops blocked the rebellion and prevented "the people from achieving their democratic goals."

Latin Progress

Latin America has undergone subtle changes in recent years which have been little noticed by much of the world, but which could have far reaching influences in the years ahead as Castro intrusion in the region reaches a crisis.

Since the Alliance for Progress was launched somewhat unsteadily several years ago, eight Latin governments have been overthrown. A half dozen countries are forced to contend with active guerilla movements. Rapid population growth, economic stagnation and poverty keep the region in a turmoil.

But, in the face of all this, the leftist extremists who became particularly active during the rise of Fidel Castro, and who became bold in their expectation of similar revolutions in other countries, are in disorder.

The sending of troops to the Dominican Republic by the United States was a severe test of current Latin attitudes. What it revealed, as a surprise even to some Washington diplomats, was that the peoples of Latin America strongly supported the action.

Communism as an escape from economic problems of great magnitude has lost its fascination, even among student rebels. One of the principal reasons is the feud between Russia and Red China. Local communist groups are waging more active warfare against one another than against established authority.

Fidel Castro, once the idol of all Latin communists, today is castigated as a "revisionist" by the pro-Peking crowd and largely ignored by others. In fact, one of the troubles faced by Latin extremists is lack of leadership. Leaders are important to any Latin political movement. Without colorful demagogues like Castro to rally behind, the leftist fanatics will continue to flounder.

Latin America is not out of the woods. The communist threat is still present. But a sweeping revulsion toward the communists and their tactics has taken the wind out of the revolutionists' sails.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. businessmen who deal in goods and dollars with other nations are sharply revising their predictions of how this country will fare this year.

One group has lowered its earlier estimates of the total of U.S. exports while increasing its prediction for imports. At the same time it has drastically cut its earlier predictions of the U.S. balance of payments deficit, because of the greater than expected drop in the outflow of American private capital.

Other observers of international trade trends think America's export markets may shrink still further next year.

Some blame a slowdown in demand in West Europe, as its big boom levels off and monetary restrictions tighten in its fight against inflation. Others see a cramping of available funds in other parts of the world where prices of the raw materials for sale are dropping. And still others think that U.S. export prices will rise because of increasing production costs, so that Americans may be priced out of some markets.

All bets are hedged, however, against what could happen to international trade and domestic economics if the Viet Nam war grows into a bigger conflict.

Some 40 financial specialists of U.S. corporations and banks engaged in international transactions reported today a sharp revision of the estimates they prepared in January for the National Foreign Trade Council. They anticipated then that the outflow of American dollars this year would top the return flow by $2 billion. Today they see this balance of payments deficit as around $800 million, which would be the smallest in eight years.

Since 1957 the annual deficit has ranged between $2 billion and $4 billion. And intermittently this has caused a troublesome drain of U.S. gold reserves.

The council's advisory group now sees commercial exports coming to $26 billion this year, a drop of $300 million from their January prediction. They see imports rising to $20.4 billion, up $500 million from the earlier estimate.

Private capital investments overseas are now estimated at $3.6 billion, down from $5.6 billion six months ago. Government grants, military expenditures and other capital outflows are regarded as a bit higher now.

All types of U.S. spending is put at $40.5 billion, and all return flows at $39.7 billion.

The relatively small $800 million deficit, however, could be a passing improvement. The group says this year's showing will be largely due to "the sizable shift in corporate short-term funds." This is regarded as probably temporary.

A dimmer view of the future of exports is taken by Fortune magazine. It doubts if the surplus of exports over imports will be regaining its former size.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Have you ever noticed the eyes of an infant as he tries to focus on an object? His eyes seem to roam almost without any relationship to each other, especially if he is frustrated, angry or hungry. Soon he begins to focus properly. This is comparable to his learning to stand and walk.

Sometimes there is a failure in proper eye development that produces the condition of squint or cross eyes.

There are many causes for squint. Most of them are simple, do not markedly affect vision, and respond well to treatment.

It is surprising how frequently children between the ages of three and five have a squint which has been unnoticed by parents. A physician, a teacher, or a neighbor might be the first to call attention to it.

It is imperative that all squints be treated early, even if the squint seems to come and go. Parents must not adopt the "this, too, shall pass" attitude and waste the valuable time that can best be used to correct the error.

Children who are beginning to go to school, read or even look at pictures need the earliest advantage of treatment. Children do not outgrow a squint without help.

In fact, there are some eye specialists who suggest that all children, at the age of two or three, have an eye examination to correct any errors that may lead to squint. For early recognition and treatment avoids the "lazy eye" complications that sometimes follow undetected squints.

What can be done to correct the squint? Before any program can be laid out, the exact cause must be determined. There are tests, both simple and elaborate, which can now be performed even in the very young child.

When the exact nature is known, the eyes may sometimes be permanently corrected with eyeglasses alone.

Occasionally, it is necessary to cover the straight eye in order to force the squinting, or "lazy eye," into muscular activity.

Great benefit to these children is offered by the relatively new science of Orthoptics. Eye exercises, scientifically planned by highly trained orthoptic technicians, help to restore maximum eye function.

If all the methods of "patching" with eyeglasses and orthoptic exercise fail to remedy the squint, surgery is then considered. The operation is a remarkably safe one and can be most gratifying to the child and the parents.

The psychological benefits of correcting cross eyes are tremendously important. The child is spared the painful comments of his playmates when this condition is properly approached and corrected.

The visual benefits that derive from surgery depend entirely on how early the condition is recognized and how diligently the entire program of treatment is followed.

Cynical Business

By John Chamberlain

The three Baltic countries of Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia have been "observing" the twenty-fifth anniversary of their incorporation into the Soviet Union. The highlights of the celebration were speeches by Premier Alexsei Kosygin (who told "tens of thousands" of Latvians in Riga that the U.S. was an aggressor in Vietnam) and top Soviet theoretician Mikhail Suslov (who chose Vilna, the capital of Lithuania, for a harangue that echoed Kosygin's opinions).

For Moscow's Communists to choose Riga and Vilna as sites to denounce any other aggression than their own is, in the light of any objective history, a most cynical business. It is precisely as if Blue Beard were to celebrate the anniversary of his original wedding twenty-five years later in the presence of his eighth wife, who might legitimately wonder what her spouse would be up to next.

The Bluebeard parallel is apt in every way. For, like the wives who had been done away with by Bluebeard under grisly circumstances, not many of the Baltic States' inhabitants who were originally "voted" into the Soviet Union in 1940 by the action of stooge parliaments are around today to do any celebrating. The "eighth - wife" "Latvians" and "Lithuanians" who were addressed by Kosygin and Suslov must have included thousands who are not even of Baltic blood. For twenty-five years Ukrainians and Russians have been systematically moved into the Baltic States. And the original Latvians, Lithuanians and Estonians have been subjected to a calculated policy of "genocide by diffusion." Mass deportations have been carried out ever since the first year of Soviet occupation. In 1940-41, the year in which the Stalin-Hitler

Pact was in force, 34,000 were either murdered or departed from Latvia; 48,000 from Lithuania; 60,000 from Estonia. Then the Germans moved in. In 1945, when the Soviets returned, any peasant who resisted the seizure of his ancestral farmland could count on being subjected to "voluntary leave to work places essential to the fatherland," which usually turned out to be Siberia. About ten per cent of the total population disappeared in this way. And a million Russians seeped in to take the places of the displaced Balts. Today, non-Balts constitute about twenty per cent of the Baltic lands population.

What the little Baltic States had to celebrate on the twenty-fifth anniversary of their seizure and forced marriage to the Soviet Bluebeard is meager enough. Those who keep up with the course of Russian agriculture, which consistently goes from bad to worse, offer some horrendous figures to show what has happened to farming in the Baltic lands. Grain production in Latvia, for instance, declined from 1,780,000 tons to 611,000 tons over a twenty-year period. In the same time-span Latvian cattle dropped from 1,210,000 to 886,000. Lithuanian cattle declined from 1,381,000 to 1,158,000; Estonian from 706,000 to 486,000.

It's a picture of old men on the collective farms in Baltic lands that were cultivated by the young twenty-five years ago. The young who resisted Sovietization of their acres have gone to the Virgin Lands of Siberia, there to lose their national identity. Those who decided to live on terms of amity with the new masters and become Russified have gone into the cities, where the pay is better and where it is possible to get a sauna bath on Saturday night.

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Five-year-old Dennis Marcum was recovering today in Fort Hamilton Hospital from the effects of spending 45 minutes in a refrigerator.

Sheriff's deputies said Dennis, son of Mrs. Marie Marcum, apparently climbed into the family refrigerator to cool off. His mother found him there a few minutes after she reported him missing, and rushed the lad to the hospital where attaches said he seemed in fairly good condition.

A BEAUTIFULLY garbed socialite stopped into a Palm Beach millinery salon and instructed the saleslady, "Will you please take that droopy red hat with the yellow feathers out of the window?"

"Dee-lighted," said the saleslady, for the hat, priced at two hundred dollars, had proved a tough one to sell. She placed it in front of the socialite and beamed. "There you are, madam."

"Very good—and thank you so much," said the socialite, marching empty-handed out of the shop. "That hat has annoyed the life out of me every time I've passed by here for the past month."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Have you ever noticed the eyes of an infant as he tries to focus on an object? His eyes seem to roam almost without any relationship to each other, especially if he is frustrated, angry or hungry. Soon he begins to focus properly. This is comparable to his learning to stand and walk.

Sometimes there is a failure in proper eye development that produces the condition of squint or cross eyes.

There are many causes for squint. Most of them are simple, do not markedly affect vision, and respond well to treatment.

It is surprising how frequently children between the ages of three and five have a squint which has been unnoticed by parents. A physician, a teacher, or a neighbor might be the first to call attention to it.

It is imperative that all squints be treated early, even if the squint seems to come and go. Parents must not adopt the "this, too, shall pass" attitude and waste the valuable time that can best be used to correct the error.

Children who are beginning to go to school, read or even look at pictures need the earliest advantage of treatment. Children do not outgrow a squint without help.

In fact, there are some eye specialists who suggest that all children, at the age of two or three, have an eye examination to correct any errors that may lead to squint. For early recognition and treatment avoids the "lazy eye" complications that sometimes follow undetected squints.

What can be done to correct the squint? Before any program can be laid out, the exact cause must be determined. There are tests, both simple and elaborate, which can now be performed even in the very young child.

When the exact nature is known, the eyes may sometimes be permanently corrected with eyeglasses alone. Occasionally, it is necessary to cover the straight eye in order to force the squinting, or "lazy eye," into muscular activity.

Great benefit to these children is offered by the relatively new science of Orthoptics. Eye exercises, scientifically planned by highly trained orthoptic technicians, help to restore maximum eye function.

If all the methods of "patching" with eyeglasses and orthoptic exercise fail to remedy the squint, surgery is then considered. The operation is a remarkably safe one and can be most gratifying to the child and the parents.

The psychological benefits of correcting cross eyes are tremendously important. The child is spared the painful comments of his playmates when this condition is properly approached and corrected.

The visual benefits that derive from surgery depend entirely on how early the condition is recognized and how diligently the entire program of treatment is followed.

Cynical Business

By John Chamberlain

The three Baltic countries of Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia have been "observing" the twenty-fifth anniversary of their incorporation into the Soviet Union. The highlights of the celebration were speeches by Premier Alexsei Kosygin (who told "tens of thousands" of Latvians in Riga that the U.S. was an aggressor in Vietnam) and top Soviet theoretician Mikhail Suslov (who chose Vilna, the capital of Lithuania, for a harangue that echoed Kosygin's opinions).

For Moscow's Communists to choose Riga and Vilna as sites to denounce any other aggression than their own is, in the light of any objective history, a most cynical business. It is precisely as if Blue Beard were to celebrate the anniversary of his original wedding twenty-five years later in the presence of his eighth wife, who might legitimately wonder what her spouse would be up to next.

The Bluebeard parallel is apt in every way. For, like the wives who had been done away with by Bluebeard under grisly circumstances, not many of the Baltic States' inhabitants who were originally "voted" into the Soviet Union in 1940 by the action of stooge parliaments are around today to do any celebrating. The "eighth-wife" "Latvians" and "Lithuanians" who were addressed by Kosygin and Suslov must have included thousands who are not even of Baltic blood. For twenty-five years Ukrainians and Russians have been systematically moved into the Baltic States. And the original Latvians, Lithuanians and Estonians have been subjected to a calculated policy of "genocide by diffusion." Mass deportations have been carried out ever since the first year of Soviet occupation. In 1940-41, the year in which the Stalin-Hitler

Pact was in force, 34,000 were either murdered or departed from Latvia; 48,000 from Lithuania; 60,000 from Estonia. Then the Germans moved in. In 1945, when the Soviets returned, any peasant who resisted the seizure of his ancestral farmland could count on being subjected to "voluntary leave to work places essential to the fatherland," which usually turned out to be Siberia. About ten per cent of the total population disappeared in this way. And a million Russians seeped in to take the places of the displaced Balts. Today, non-Balts constitute about twenty per cent of the Baltic lands population.

What the little Baltic States had to celebrate on the twenty-fifth anniversary of their seizure and forced marriage to the Soviet Bluebeard is meager enough. Those who keep up with the course of Russian agriculture, which consistently goes from bad to worse, offer some horrendous figures to show what has happened to farming in the Baltic lands. Grain production in Latvia, for instance, declined from 1,780,000 tons to 611,000 tons over a twenty-year period. In the same time-span Latvian cattle dropped from 1,210,000 to 886,000. Lithuanian cattle declined from 1,381,000 to 1,158,000; Estonian from 706,000 to 486,000.

It's a picture of old men on the collective farms in Baltic lands that were cultivated by the young twenty-five years ago. The young who resisted Sovietization of their acres have gone to the Virgin Lands of Siberia, there to lose their national identity. Those who decided to live on terms of amity with the new masters and become Russified have gone into the cities, where the pay is better and where it is possible to get a sauna bath on Saturday night.

$634 Million School Bill Gets Approval

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State senators have approved the record $634 million school foundation bill, with Democrats claiming credit for helping GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes fulfill a campaign pledge.

By a 31-0 vote, the Senate measure which provides a flat $200-a-year increase for 90,000 Ohio teachers and certificated school employees, sending it back to the House for consideration of amendments.

Rhodes promised the $200 increase during the 1962 campaign.

"We in the Education Committee were committed to this promise. This was a grandstand play on the part of the governor, looking to the 1966 elections," said Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-Oberlin.

Sen. Thomas P. Gilmartin, D-Mahoning, sought to add to a floor amendment under which school district would have been required to use 60 per cent of surplus funds to raise the pay of noncertificated employees. It was defeated 15 yes to 16 no with Republicans prevailing on a party line vote.

In addition to the flat $200 increase, the bill also would set new teacher pay minimums and assume "poor" districts of the funds to cover them.

The minimums would be boosted in two steps, the first effective immediately and the second on July 1, 1966.

They are, for nondegree teachers, $3,600 and $3,800; for those with a bachelor's degree, $4,200 and $4,500; for those with more than a bachelor's degree but less than a master's, $4,300 and $4,700, and for those with a master's, $4,400 and $5,000.

The school bill was the only one considered by the Senate as the lawmakers returned for what may be the final week of the session.

In other developments, the House and Senate agreed to name conference committees to resolve differences on bills to raise the pay of state officials, set penalties for telephone bomb threats, and to establish new municipal courts and expand others.

The House objected to the pay raise bill because of what representatives called an excessive boost in the lieutenant governor's pay, from $8,000 to $20,000 instead of to $15,000 as voted in the lower chamber.

The House adopted seven resolutions calling for studies by the Legislative Service Commission, fact-finding arm of the legislature. Only two ran into opposition.

Rep. Richard M. Christiansen, D-Richland, opposed a study of the feasibility of a county income tax but lost on a voice vote.

Rep. John F. Corrigan, D-Cuyahoga, questioned wording of a proposal to look into working conditions for women and minors. It won narrow approval by a 60-57 vote.

Other studies would deal with technical and vocational education, Blue Cross hospital plans, tests for criminal insanity, use and transfer of state lands, preservation of historical sites, the Ohio Constitution, teen-age driving, and medical care under retirement systems and Social Security.

EASTLAKE, Ohio (AP)—Two children, visiting here from Van Wert, drowned in Lake Erie Monday about 150 feet offshore.

William B. Rable, 14, went under first, and his sister, Jonne, 12, tried to save him and also perished, police said.

The two were swimming with their sister, Sue, 15, when William began to flounder. The lake was calm.

"It looked like William must have gotten a cramp or something," said Mrs. Theodore Adams, grandmother of the victims. With the children, but on the beach, were their grandfather, Theodore Adams, 72, and their mother, Mrs. Carolyn Patton, 37, of Eastlake.

The three children came here Saturday from Van Wert, where they live at the Marsh Foundation, a home for children of broken homes. They were visiting their mother.

William's body was recovered about two hours after he disappeared, and a search continued for the body of Joanne.

Duke's Hoard Brings Battle

16th Century Treasure 'Found'

BELVEGLIO D'ASTI, Italy (AP)—A legal battle has broken out over a fabled lost treasure dating back to the Renaissance.

Duke Carlo Matteo Farnese supposedly buried the treasure during the 16th century on the grounds of the Castello Della Mala Morte — Castle of the Evil Death — on a hill in this north Italian village.

Engineer Alessandro Porro claims he has found the treasure some 75 feet below ground by means of an electronic detector he invented. The data supplied by the detector, he said, indicates the treasure includes barrels filled with gold and diamond-studded crowns.

Carlo Barberis, owner of the present residence erected on the ruins of the ancient castle, retained Porro. He has since hired three workmen and started extensive excavation.

Barberis said this week he hoped to reach the coveted goal in one more month. However, he is embroiled in a dispute with Porro over what percentage of the treasure the engineer is entitled to. Barberis says Porro agreed to 10 to 15 per cent. The engineer has filed suit for 25 per cent of whatever turns up. The case is scheduled to come up in court in September.

The Italian government is also interested in the matter, since all national monuments belong to the state. Discoverers of hidden treasures are entitled to only a share of their findings.

Duke Farnese and his wife, Zeleusa Ellenica, poisoned themselves to escape capture by Spanish forces besieging the castle during one of the many 16th century wars fought by European powers over Italian territory.

The couple is supposed to be buried deep under the castle ruins along with the mystery treasure.

Duke's Hoard Brings Battle

16th Century Treasure 'Found'

BELVEGLIO D'ASTI, Italy (AP)—A legal battle has broken out over a fabled lost treasure dating back to the Renaissance.

Duke Carlo Matteo Farnese supposedly buried the treasure during the 16th century on the grounds of the Castello Della Mala Morte — Castle of the Evil Death — on a hill in this north Italian village.

Engineer Alessandro Porro claims he has found the treasure some 75 feet below ground by means of an electronic detector he invented. The data supplied by the detector, he said, indicates the treasure includes barrels filled with gold and diamond-studded crowns.

Carlo Barberis, owner of the present residence erected on the ruins of the ancient castle, retained Porro. He has since hired three workmen and started extensive excavation.

Barberis said this week he hoped to reach the coveted goal in one more month. However, he is embroiled in a dispute with Porro over what percentage of the treasure the engineer is entitled to. Barberis says Porro agreed to 10 to 15 per cent. The engineer has filed suit for 25 per cent of whatever turns up. The case is scheduled to come up in court in September.

The Italian government is also interested in the matter, since all national monuments belong to the state. Discoverers of hidden treasures are entitled to only a share of their findings.

Duke Farnese and his wife, Zeleusa Ellenica, poisoned themselves to escape capture by Spanish forces besieging the castle during one of the many 16th century wars fought by European powers over Italian territory.

The couple is supposed to be buried deep under the castle ruins along with the mystery treasure.

DECORATIVE IDEAS — Do-with-dye projects appeal to youngsters who love to finger-paint. For rainy day fun make your own fingerpaints by coloring a starch-soap flake mixture with dye and give the kids something novel to do.

Colorful Dye Has Creative Possibilities

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Those little packages of tint and dye that deck dime store counters are good for a great deal more than freshening up faded lingerie with bright new color.

Their possibilities are just about endless. You can employ them for any number of decorative or arts-and-crafts uses. For example:

Sponge Printing: Air your artistic talent by dipping a sponge in dye, then using it to print or paint a picture or design on unbleached muslin, linen, denim or a square cut from an old sheet.

Make a concentrated dye solution (1 pkg. dye to 1 qt. hot water) for "paint". Use at least one sponge for each "paint" color.

For interesting effects, cut sponges into different shapes. Print with the edges, sides or the flat surface with a wet but not dripping sponge.

When the print dries, apply a coat of clear shellac to give it a permanent finish.

Finger - Painting: Mix your own fingerpaints by combining 1/2 c. cornstarch and 1/4 c. cold water in a medium saucepan. Add 2 c. hot water and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil and is clear.

Remove from heat and blend in 1 envelope unflavored gelatin that has been softened in 1-4 c. cold water. Add 1/2 c. mild soap flakes; stir until mixture is thoroughly dissolved. Makes 3 c.

To color the fingerprint base, mix 1 c. of base and 1 tsp. all-purpose dye in a jar with a spoon.

Finishing Furniture? For a colorful finish that allows the beauty of the wood grain to show through, color unpainted furniture with all-purpose dye.

Brush a concentrated solution (1 pkg. of dye dissolved in 1 pt. of hot water) into the wood. When dry, repeat the application. When the second coat dries, rub it with paste wax, then shellac it.

Dried Flowers? Brighten dried flowers with dye.

While they're drying, hang them upside down in small bunches.

When dried, dip them in a concentrated hot dye solution until the desired depth of color has been obtained. Hang them up while the dye dries.

Ideas For Odds And Ends: Every home has "discards" that can be decorative.

Old tennis balls, for example, can be dipped in dye, dressed up with yarn hair, button eyes and yarn mouths. Then they can be hung from a coat hanger to make a real bouncing mobile.

Empty wooden thread spools can be dyed in bright colors and strung together to make dolls. Or glue them, one atop the other, to create a totem pole that can be decorated with ferocious-looking painted-on or pasted-on features.

Do-with-dye projects such as these last two appeal to youngsters. Remember them next time a rainy day shuts the door on outdoor fun and games. Give the youngsters something novel to do and you'll all weather showers in better spirits.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

He's Too 'Young'!

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend's mother has spent the past 30 years convincing him that she has a serious heart condition. I am sure she is just putting on an act to get attention from Gene. She's been a widow for years, and Gene is her only "child." (A 40-year-old child!) She shovels coal for the furnace, can out-shout anyone in an argument, and runs up and down stairs like a teen-ager. I have dated Gene for three years but have been invited to his mother's home only once. I tried to make her like me, but when she and her son are together they act like there's nobody else in the room.

I love this guy enough to accept her for a mother-in-law, but first I have to convince Gene that he and his mother don't really need each other. He says when she goes, he'll get everything, which I understand is quite a lot. She's only 61 but will probably live to be 100. From this letter I guess I sound as bad as she is, but believe me, I've made a "hit" with the mothers of every other fellow I have dated. I'm domestic, sincere, intelligent, mature and good-looking. I know Gene loves me, but what about his mother problem?

DEAR OHIO: You'll never convince Gene that he and his mother don't "need" each other. They do. Let his mother have him and try to find a man who's free. Gene isn't.

DEAR ABBY: My wife works in an office. For years, just to keep peace in the family, I have put up with the office Christmas party, to which no husbands or wives are invited.

Now something new has started. The office birthday party! The girls in the office bake cakes for the men. The other day my wife's boss asked her to bake a cake for his office birthday party. Now, Abby, am I wrong to object to my wife baking for another man? I feel like the boss wants someone to bake him a birthday cake he should ask his own wife to bake it for him. Am I wrong?

ANTI-OFFICE PARTIES
DEAR ANTI: Yes. Probably the boss' wife is a poor cook and your wife could be stirring up both a cake — and a raise.

DEAR ABBY: What should you do if you meet a boy somewhere and he says he would like to take you out. And you say you can't because you don't know him. Then he says, "How are you going to get to know me if you don't go out with me?" I am 15 and am stuck for an answer.

STUCK
DEAR STUCK: It all depends on where you meet. If you met him with mutual friends, inquire about him. A person's reputation is a fairly good clue to his character. If his reputation is good, invite him to your home so you can get to know him better. If you met him on a street corner and know nothing about him, he may be perfectly all right, but it's not worth the gamble.

'Head-Start' Could End as False Start

DETROIT (AP)—The federal Head-Start program will be a false start unless local communities continue the work begun this summer, Vice President Hubert Humphrey warned today.

Humphrey discussed the preschool training program and other anti-poverty measures in remarks prepared for delivery at the National League of Cities' 42nd annual Congress of Cities.

"It will do the Head-Start child very little good if he must return to the same housing, to the same unemployed, illiterate parent, to the same neglected school system," he told an audience of city officials from around the nation.

The vice president also called again for creation of a cabinet-level Department of Urban Affairs.

And he promised implementation of a league proposal for "large-scale research projects to be brought to bear on problems of urban living—research of the kind we have utilized in the federal government in space and defense."

The congress, attended by some 2,000 city officials, runs through Wednesday.

On this date

In 1866, after many heart-breaking failures, Europe and America were linked by an undersea telegraph cable. The long fight to set up instantaneous communication had succeeded.

In 1909, Orville Wright set a world record for airplanes when he and a passenger remained in flight for one hour, one minute and 40 seconds.

In 1922, the United States recognized the governments of Albania, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

In 1940, British Royal Air Force planes attacked the French cities of Cherbourg, Nantes and St. Nazaire.

In 1944, Moscow announced the capture of six major Nazi bases in Poland.

Ten years ago — Fifty-eight persons were killed when an Israeli passenger plane was shot down over Bulgaria.

Five years ago — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan announced a major shakeup of his cabinet.

One year ago—Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill paid a last visit to the House of Commons, where he had served for 64 years, and announced he would not seek re-election.

MRS. PEGGY HOINIG, 36, is not afraid to speak her mind as she campaigns in New York City. She is seeking election as mayor.

Stengel Due To Undergo Surgery Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Indomitable old Casey Stengel was scheduled for an operation on his fractured left hip today, an operation described by his doctor as serious and one that could, at last, close the Old Perfeccion's baseball career.

After a day of tests at Roosevelt Hospital, New York Met team physician Dr. Peetr LaMotte scheduled a hip prothesis, an operation which consists of inserting a metal ball in the hip, taking the place of the socket in the hip joint.

An alternate method, Dr. La Motte said, would be the insertion of metal pin plants and "if he were a younger man, I would be inclined to do the pin-type operation."

Stengel fractured the hip in a fall Sunday morning — on the eve of his 75th birthday celebration scheduled at Shea Stadium — following a party for New York Giants' and Brooklyn Dodgers' old-timers.

"At his age, any such operation has to be considered serious," Dr. La Motte said.

Another Record Year in Prospect

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball is moving toward a record high in attendance for the second straight year spurred by a boom in Houston and renewed interest in Cleveland.

This was disclosed today in an Associated Press survey through games of Sunday, July 25. Over-all attendance at the 20 big league ball parks shows an increase of 582,179 — 4.4 per cent — over last season.

The combined total for the National and American leagues is 13,767,476 compared to 13,185,297 in as many dates in 1964. The two circuits drew 21,280,341 altogether last year.

The National League, paced by Houston's astronomical gain of 910,714 in its new enclosed stadium, appears headed for its fourth straight record year. NL clubs have played before 8,175,916, a gain of 512,328 over last year. The American League is up 69,851.

The Houston team has lured 1,444,133 to the Astrodome compared to only 533,419 in as many 1964 dates in Colts' stadium. Houston's final 1964 attendance was only 725,773.

The Indians, who reportedly were considering shifting their franchise last summer, have virtually equalled last season's final attendance total. In 44 home dates this year, they've attracted 648,936 persons, a gain of 172,951 over last year, and within easy range of the final '64 aggregate of 653,293.

The AP survey also reflected apathy in Milwaukee and Kansas City. The Braves, headed for Atlanta in 1966, have pulled only 262,029 fans through the County Stadium turnstiles compared to 577,095 in as many home dates last season.

The Athletics, who have the next lowest figure to the Braves, have lured a mere 276,600 customers, a drop of 100,444.

Bonus Baby Wins Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arnie Umback, a $100,000 bonus baby who has caused the Milwaukee Braves some anxious moments, appears to be shaping up and could become one of the pitching aces of the International League.

Umback presently is with Atlanta. Monday night he pitched his second straight nine-inning victory, allowing just five hits as the Crackers defeated Buffalo 3-1.

In other games, Columbus stopped Syracuse 8-4 and Toledo pounded out a 9-4 victory over Rochester. The Toronto-Jacksonville game was rained out.

Steve Blass, who will start for the International League All-Stars against Milwaukee in Atlanta Thursday night, armed up for the occasion by pitching Columbus past Syracuse.

Toledo banged out 14 hits in beating Rochester for only the fourth time in 16 tries this season. In doing so, the Mudhens defeated left-hander Bill Short, who had beaten them three times previously.

Mincher Gets Killebrew Job, Both Homer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Harmon Killebrew is back where he started 11 years ago and big Don Mincher is doing his best to keep the Killer there.

Mincher, who reverted to the odd man in Minnesota's power structure last spring when Manager Sam Mele decided to convert Killebrew into a first baseman, made another bid for steady work Monday night.

Mincher laced a three-run first-inning homer that sparked the Twins to an 8-2 victory over Baltimore.

Killebrew, back at third base, where he played as a rookie with the old Washington Senators in 1954, added his 20th homer as the Twins stretched their America League lead to 4 1/2 games over the second-place Orioles.

The Los Angeles Angels whipped Boston 6-2 behind George Brunet's six-hit pitching and a four-run eighth-inning rally in the only other AL action.

In the National League, first-place Los Angeles edged second-place Cincinnati 5-4; Milwaukee trimmed Houston 6-0 and St. Louis topped San Francisco 7-4.

Mincher's three-run shot off Milt Pappas rattled the Orioles at the start and they never recovered. After Killebrew's solo homer in the sixth, the Twins picked up four unearned runs, the result of three errors and a passed ball. Jim Grant picked up his 11th victory in 14 decisions but needed help from reliever Gary Roggenbuck, who worked out of a bases-loaded jam in the seventh and blanked Baltimore the rest of the way.

Lou Clinton, a former Boston outfielder, ignited the Angels' eighth-inning uprising with a leadoff triple off Dave Morehead. Bob Rodgers singled him home, snapping a 2-2 tie, and the Angels added three more runs, two on a pinch hit single by Power.

Jim Fregosi drove in the first two LA runs with a single and his fourth homer in the four-game series.

Bulk of U.S. Envoys Are Careerists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Figures compiled at the State Department indicated today that a record high proportion of U.S. ambassadorships are being held by career diplomats.

The study showed that as of two weeks ago, about 76 per cent of the U.S. mission chiefs around the world were careerists and 24 per cent were political appointees.

A career diplomat is a government Foreign Service officer. Applicants for the Foreign Service take written and oral examinations. If selected for the service, they start at the lowest classification and later advance to higher ranks. The top classification is an ambassadorship.

The President names all ambassadors — either through selection from the Foreign Service ranks or by political appointment.

The ratio of careerists in the top diplomatic posts climbed after World War II. Under Presidents Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy, the proportion stood at approximately two-thirds career appointees, one-third political.

State Department officials said that while exact percentages vary frequently with the continuing turnover in some 120 ambassadorships, their available records show more careerists hold these coveted posts now than ever before.

The figures as of July 12 listed 113 U.S. mission chief positions around the world of which three were vacant — Hungary, Yemen, Jamaica — and two, Senegal and Gambia, were combined under one man, Ambassador Mercer Cook (noncareer).

Of the 109 incumbents, 83 were rated "government careerists"—80 Foreign Service officers and 3 retired military officers—and 26 were noncareer.

Of 63 picked by Johnson since he took office, 47 were listed as careerists and 16 as noncareer.

A half-dozen ambassadorships to various international organizations were not included in the tabulation. Most of these have been and continue to be occupied mainly by political appointees.

4 Children, Mother Die In Car Plunge

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) —A Belmont County mother and her four children, on a family fishing outing, drowned Monday night when their car went over a steep embankment into a private fishing lake.

The father was fishing just a few feet from the car when the tragedy occurred at Lake Shawn near the Ohio River community of Powhatan Point.

The Highway Patrol said the mother, 25-year-old Mrs. William Williams, apparently was trying to turn the car around to play the headlights on her husband's fishing line. She yelled that the handbrake wouldn't hold just before the car toppled into the lake.

The lake was once a strip mine pit and is rimmed by a mining highwall. The wall is about 50 feet deep.

The bodies of the mother and three of the children, two boys and a girl, were recovered during the night.

The body of a third boy was still missing.

The Highway Patrol identified the children as Michael, 6, Mark, 5, Marty, 4, and Eva Jane, 3.

The family lived in a rural area, Key Ridge near Bellaire.

The father, 32, was hospitalized in Bellaire early today after being placed under sedation. The patrol said several men had to restrain him after the accident from diving into the lake.

Noted 'Ugly American' Author Dies

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — When the headwaiter of the Champagne Room of the Manila Hotel saw the two men sauntering in wearing Bermuda shorts, he discreetly explained that they were improperly dressed and would have to leave.

So they did. The next morning, Eugene Burdick and William Lederer, co-authors of "The Ugly American," a book which sharply berated the failings of Americans away from home, checked out of the hotel.

This 1962 incident in the Philippines was a tidy comeuppance of the sort that delighted author Burdick, a man who outraged the U.S. State Department with his criticism of foreign policy and the American voter, whom he viewed with the cool detachment of an entomologist.

Burdick, 46, collapsed and died of a heart attack Monday at the start of a fifth game of tennis.

He had recently completed an 18-month writing stint with Lederer on a novel, "Sarkhan," a sequel to "The Ugly American," and was staying with a long-time friend, Hugh N. Wood, vice president of Pacific Southwest Airlines.

Ohio Man's Trial Opens In Florida

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — An Air Force nurse testified Monday that she gave first aid to Billie Ray Babson after he limped out of a Tampa dress shop where a policeman was shot to death.

The 29-year-old Cincinnati, Ohio, welder is charged with first degree murder in the death of patrolman William D. Krikava, father of five, last Jan. 1.

The nurse, Betty Jean Ward, 24, told a jury of 12 men she saw two persons break into the dress shop adjoining her apartment and called police.

She said after the officer entered the shop "there were shots, a pause and then more shots."

Police arrested Babson and his wife, Janet, 33, near the scene. Mrs. Babson is scheduled to stand trial for murder in the same case in September.

She was freed under $18,000 bond.

The trial opened in Orlando Monday. It was shifted from Tampa at the request of Babson's court-appointed attorney.

Democrats in Jersey Push Registration

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey Democratic party hopes to register a record number of voters for the November general election, says the Democratic State Committee.

The committee said its objective is to top the 1961 gubernatorial election total of 3,013,000 registered voters and "to approach the record total of the 1964 presidential election of 3,233,000."

Policeman, Sidewalk Sale Make Lasting Impression

A Circleville policeman and the local Sidewalk Sale here July 15 combined to make a lasting impression on a West Virginia couple who happened to be passing through on the special sales day.

Most happy and delighted with the courtesy they received here on July 15 are Mr. and Mrs. James H. Dellget of Wheeling. Mayor Ben H. Gordon has received a letter from them in which they extend appreciation for the kind treatment. Here are their comments:

"Recently we passed through your city on our way home from Birmingham, Ala. We came upon a Sidewalk Sale (I have yet to pass up a sale) and decided to stop and look around.

"It was close to noon, and not

Texas Gas Plans New Pipeline to Hamilton

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Gas Transmission Corp. has applied to the Federal Power Commission for authority to construct pipeline facilities to enable it to supply natural gas to Hamilton, Ohio.

Hamilton had asked the commission earlier to direct Texas Gas to supply it with up to 37.55 million cubic feet of natural gas daily. In announcing Texas Gas' application Monday, the commission said the project would cost an estimated $8,257,000.

800-Pound Ohio Man Dies at Age 42

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Graveside services will be held at Massillon Cemetery Wednesday morning for 800-pound Harris H. Davis, 42. Davis died Monday at Massillon City Hospital, where he was admitted July 15.

Sixteen firemen and policemen used a refrigerator dolly to move him into an ambulance for the trip to the hospital where two beds were wired together to support him. He entered the hospital for treatment of respiratory and heart ailments, and his doctor said the latter caused his death.

knowing your town, we took a chance and asked a policeman who was directing traffic — which was heavy at the time — if we might be able to park and look around. Instead of a curt remark or being told to move on, as so often happens in busy traffic, this kind officer made every effort to find us a place to park, all the while walking along side of us with his hand on the car fender.

"He directed us directly behind the police station (all this attention began going to my head and I almost began to think I was someone very important). When I finally came down to earth, we left the car and this kind gentleman told us to enjoy our stay and departed (not before my husband introduced us, and the officer in turn gave us his name).

"As we turned the first corner, we were met by a group of young boys who were selling snowcones. They had already prepared three for our children, with the officer's compliments.

"Such treatment you are not accustomed to in the normal course of travelling. And when you come up against this sort of human relationship, you aren't really sure its for real.

"Our stay in your city was no less enjoyable than the treatment we received upon being ushered into it.

"So much is written about the 'bad' cop, the indifferent human, that just this once I think should be mentioned the kindness from one kind police officer to a couple hokie tourists who wanted to hunt for bargains.

"If all the people in all the cities were as kind and nice to one another as this fine man was to use, what a wonderful world this would be. If all the people were all Police Chief Bob Temples... Wow!... no problems."

Estranged Wife Shot By Mate

CLEVELAND (AP) — There were four bullet holes in the oak paneling of Courtroom 8 on the third floor of Lakeside Avenue Courthouse today—evidence of a distraught husband's terrifying attempt to kill his estranged wife.

Bleeding from the shoulder and screaming, Mrs. Ruth Lowe, 35, ran from the corridor into the courtroom Monday afternoon. She dashed for the trial table, then through the jury box and back out into the corridor.

Today she is in fair condition, with wounds in the neck and right arm.

Her husband, John, 50, who ran downstairs while sheriff's deputies were on their way up from the first floor, was still at large today.

Lowe, a furniture company laborer, and his wife, who sued for divorce a year ago, were seated on a bench in the corridor outside the courtroom when the trouble started. Their divorce trial was soon to begin.

She had charged him with extreme cruelty and neglect.

According to Detective Lt. Carl Delu, Lowe was pleading for a reconciliation, then suddenly pulled a revolver from paper bag and fired. The wounded woman—crying "Help me!"—ran through the rear doors of the courtroom, Lowe in pursuit.

More Rights Shows Due in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati can expect more civil rights demonstrations soon, even though the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) does not plan to repeat its action at the school site where 16 demonstrators were arrested Monday after they climbed on scaffolds and wall forms.

The civil rights group held a "critique" of the demonstration Monday night after those arrested were freed on bail and the city of Cincinnati obtained a CORE from Common Pleas Judge Raymond E. Shannon.

"CORE will comply with Judge Shannon's order restraining us from interfering with construction work at the Avondale site, but this does not bar us from peaceful picketing which is our right, and we may interfere with construction work at other sites in the near future," said the Rev. Stanley Haok, vice-chairman of the local CORE.

Civil rights demonstrators have picketed the site of the East Avondale Elementary School in the past to protest alleged racial discrimination by building trades unions. They say the union only allow Negroes to be hired as laborers. Monday several score demonstrators climbed on the unfinished structure, stopping all work on the site.

King Off for Cleveland

CHICAGO (AP) — The civil rights anthem "We Shall Overcome" thundered from an estimated 10,000 persons Monday as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., climaxed his three-day Chicago visit with a march to City Hall.

Whites and Negroes jammed in La Salle Street to hear the integration leader from Atlanta, Ga. The big parade's rear guard never got past State and Madison streets four blocks from City Hall.

King arranged to fly to Cleveland, Ohio, today to start a two-day round of appearances similar to the more than 18 street rallies, luncheons, marches and church services at which he appeared from Friday night through Monday in Chicago.

The Cleveland visit is the second in a swing of four Northern cities. Philadelphia and Washington will follow Cleveland.

Monday's parade began in Grant Park on the lake shore, where almost daily marches to City Hall have originated since June 10. The purpose of the marches has been to demand ouster of Benjamin C. Willis from his post as schools superintendent and to force Mayor Richard J. Daley to step into a schools situation which marchers claim is plagued by de facto segregation.

The purpose of the march — "Ben Willis must go!" as the marchers shouted it — was the same. But there were many more than the usual 100-odd daily marchers. King, 36, estimated the marchers at double to triple the 10,000 in a police estimate.

The police estimate did not include the four- and five-deep throngs that lined either side of the broad Loop streets as paraders filed past 25 abreast. Police said the line stretched eight blocks along the 14-block parade route.

Daley was in Detroit at the National League of Cities conference.

Bulk of U.S. Envoys Are Careerists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Figures compiled at the State Department indicated today that a record high proportion of U.S. ambassadorships are being held by career diplomats.

The study showed that as of two weeks ago, about 76 per cent of the U.S. mission chiefs around the world were careerists and 24 per cent were political appointees.

A career diplomat is a government Foreign Service officer. Applicants for the Foreign Service take written and oral examinations. If selected for the service, they start at the lowest classification and later advance to higher ranks. The top classification is an ambassadorship.

The President names all ambassadors — either through selection from the Foreign Service ranks or by political appointment.

The ratio of careerists in the top diplomatic posts climbed after World War II. Under Presidents Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy, the proportion stood at approximately two-thirds career appointees, one-third political.

State Department officials said that while exact percentages vary frequently with the continuing turnover in some 120 ambassadorships, their available records show more careerists hold these coveted posts now than ever before.

The figures as of July 12 listed 113 U.S. mission chief positions around the world of which three were vacant — Hungary, Yemen, Jamaica — and two, Senegal and Gambia, were combined under one man, Ambassador Mercer Cook (noncareer).

Of the 109 incumbents, 83 were rated "government careerists"—80 Foreign Service officers and 3 retired military officers—and 26 were noncareer.

Of 63 picked by Johnson since he took office, 47 were listed as careerists and 16 as noncareer.

A half-dozen ambassadorships to various international organizations were not included in the tabulation. Most of these have been and continue to be occupied mainly by political appointees.

4 Children, Mother Die In Car Plunge

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) —A Belmont County mother and her four children, on a family fishing outing, drowned Monday night when their car went over a steep embankment into a private fishing lake.

The father was fishing just a few feet from the car when the tragedy occurred at Lake Shawn near the Ohio River community of Powhatan Point.

The Highway Patrol said the mother, 25-year-old Mrs. William Williams, apparently was trying to turn the car around to play the headlights on her husband's fishing line. She yelled that the handbrake wouldn't hold just before the car toppled into the lake.

The lake was once a strip mine pit and is rimmed by a mining highwall. The wall is about 50 feet deep.

The bodies of the mother and three of the children, two boys and a girl, were recovered during the night.

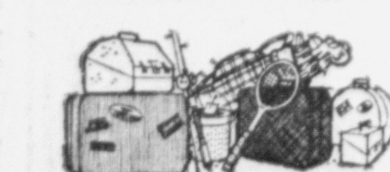

The body of a third boy was still missing.

The Highway Patrol identified the children as Michael, 6, Mark, 5, Marty, 4, and Eva Jane, 3.

The family lived in a rural area, Key Ridge near Bellaire.

The father, 32, was hospitalized in Bellaire early today after being placed under sedation. The patrol said several men had to restrain him after the accident from diving into the lake.

Noted 'Ugly American' Author Dies

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — When the headwaiter of the Champagne Room of the Manila Hotel saw the two men sauntering in wearing Bermuda shorts, he discreetly explained that they were improperly dressed and would have to leave.

So they did. The next morning, Eugene Burdick and William Lederer, co-authors of "The Ugly American," a book which sharply berated the failings of Americans away from home, checked out of the hotel.

This 1962 incident in the Philippines was a tidy comeuppance of the sort that delighted author Burdick, a man who outraged the U.S. State Department with his criticism of foreign policy and the American voter, whom he viewed with the cool detachment of an entomologist.

Burdick, 46, collapsed and died of a heart attack Monday at the start of a fifth game of tennis.

He had recently completed an 18-month writing stint with Lederer on a novel, "Sarkhan," a sequel to "The Ugly American," and was staying with a long-time friend, Hugh N. Wood, vice president of Pacific Southwest Airlines.

Ohio Man's Trial Opens In Florida

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — An Air Force nurse testified Monday that she gave first aid to Billie Ray Babson after he limped out of a Tampa dress shop where a policeman was shot to death.

The 29-year-old Cincinnati, Ohio, welder is charged with first degree murder in the death of patrolman William D. Krikava, father of five, last Jan. 1.

The nurse, Betty Jean Ward, 24, told a jury of 12 men she saw two persons break into the dress shop adjoining her apartment and called police.

She said after the officer entered the shop "there were shots, a pause and then more shots."

Police arrested Babson and his wife, Janet, 33, near the scene. Mrs. Babson is scheduled to stand trial for murder in the same case in September. She was freed under $18,000 bond.

The trial opened in Orlando Monday. It was shifted from Tampa at the request of Babson's court-appointed attorney.

Democrats in Jersey Push Registration

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey Democratic party hopes to register a record number of voters for the November general election, says the Democratic State Committee.

The committee said its objective is to top the 1961 gubernatorial election total of 3,013,000 registered voters and "to approach the record total of the 1964 presidential election of 3,233,000."

An Act of Kindness

Policeman, Sidewalk Sale Make Lasting Impression

A Circleville policeman and the local Sidewalk Sale here July 15 combined to make a lasting impression on a West Virginia couple who happened to be passing through on the special sales day.

Most happy and delighted with the courtesy they received here on July 15 are Mr. and Mrs. James H. Dellget of Wheeling. Mayor Ben H. Gordon has received a letter from them in which they extend appreciation for the kind treatment. Here are their comments:

"Recently we passed through your city on our way home from Birmingham, Ala. We came upon a Sidewalk Sale (I have yet to pass up a sale) and decided to stop and look around.

"It was close to noon, and not knowing your town, we took a chance and asked a policeman who was directing traffic — which was heavy at the time — if we might be able to park and look around. Instead of a curt remark or being told to move on, as so often happens in busy traffic, this kind officer made every effort to find us a place to park, all the while walking along side of us with his hand on the car fender.

"He directed us directly behind the police station (all this attention began going to my head and I almost began to think I was someone very important). When I finally came down to earth, we left the car and this kind gentleman told us to enjoy our stay and departed (not before my husband introduced us, and the officer in turn gave us his name).

"As we turned the first corner, we were met by a group of young boys who were selling snowcones. They had already prepared three for our children, with the officer's compliments.

"Such treatment you are not accustomed to in the normal course of traveling. And when you come up against this sort of human relationship, you aren't really sure its for real.

"Our stay in your city was no less enjoyable than the treatment we received upon being ushered into it.

"So much is written about the 'bad' cop, the indifferent human, that just this once I think should be mentioned the kindness from one kind police officer to a couple hokie tourists who wanted to hunt for bargains.

"If all the people in all the cities were as kind and nice to one another as this fine man was to use, what a wonderful world this would be. If all the people were all Police Chief Bob Temples... Wow!... no problems."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Gas Transmission Corp. has applied to the Federal Power Commission for authority to construct pipeline facilities to enable it to supply natural gas to Hamilton, Ohio.

Hamilton had asked the commission earlier to direct Texas Gas to supply it with up to 37.55 million cubic feet of natural gas daily. In announcing Texas Gas' application Monday, the commission said the project would cost an estimated $8,257,000.

800-Pound Ohio Man Dies at Age 42

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Graveside services will be held at Massillon Cemetery Wednesday morning for 800-pound Harris H. Davis, 42. Davis died Monday at Massillon City Hospital, where he was admitted July 15.

Sixteen firemen and policemen used a refrigerator dolly to move him into an ambulance for the trip to the hospital where two beds were wired together to support him. He entered the hospital for treatment of respiratory and heart ailments, and his doctor said the latter caused his death.

Estranged Wife Shot By Mate

CLEVELAND (AP) — There were four bullet holes in the oak paneling of Courtroom 8 on the third floor of Lakeside Avenue Courthouse today—evidence of a distraught husband's terrifying attempt to kill his estranged wife.

Bleeding from the shoulder and screaming, Mrs. Ruth Lowe, 35, ran from the corridor into the courtroom Monday afternoon. She dashed for the trial table, then through the jury box and back out into the corridor.

Today she is in fair condition, with wounds in the neck and right arm.

Her husband, John, 50, who ran downstairs while sheriff's deputies were on their way up from the first floor, was still at large today.

Lowe, a furniture company laborer, and his wife, who sued for divorce a year ago, were seated on a bench in the corridor outside the courtroom when the trouble started. Their divorce trial was soon to begin.

She had charged him with extreme cruelty and neglect.

According to Detective Lt. Carl Delu, Lowe was pleading for a reconciliation, then suddenly pulled a revolver from paper bag and fired. The wounded woman—crying "Help me!"—ran through the rear doors of the courtroom, Lowe in pursuit.
